cone beam international magazine of cone beam dentistry

cone beam international magazine of cone beam dentistry (cone beam) is a quarterly C.E. publication devoted entirely to cone beam computed tomography (CBCT) in dentistry. It covers the most significant developments in the field and is targeted at experts who use CBCT, such as implantologists, orthodontists, prosthodontists and endodontists. The magazine presents the latest research and case studies in the field, as well as pertinent industry news, trends in procedures and techniques, and the newest education and events.

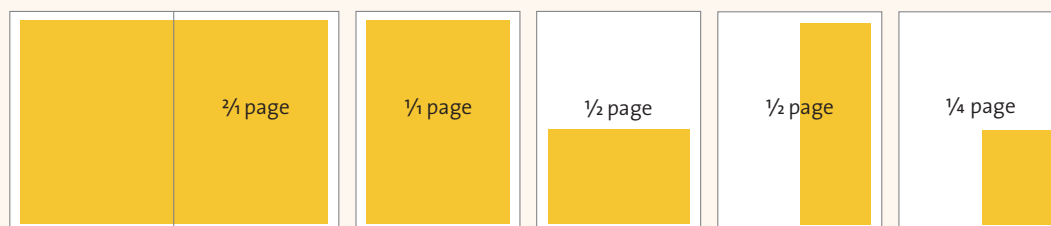

This high-gloss English-language magazine is distributed at all major international congresses, exhibitions and opinion leaders worldwide (mainly the US, Middle East & Africa, Asia Pacific and Europe) and distributed at many specialty-specific events. The magazine is the official publication of the International Cone Beam Institute, as well as several other education providers in the field. Depending on article volume, cone beam can either be published as a standalone magazine or be included in CAD/CAM international magazine of digital dentistry.

Please note: Complimentary PR as well as product and industry news are offered in support of advertising. The publication of clinical articles and case studies is limited in each edition. Therefore, submissions are subject to review and approval by the managing editor.
