Time to learn and explore

By Kristine Colburn, Editor

Each year, the Greater New York Dental Meeting offers opportunities to explore, learn and grow, and part of that is the opportunity to explore and learn about the latest in dental technology and equipment.

Over in the exhibit hall, the exhibit area is full of every kind of product you can imagine. From traditional and innovative to innovative and innovative, the exhibit area is full of every kind of product you can imagine.

Over in the classroom, dozens of educational offerings are being given in a series of short, mid-length, and full-length sessions, with other workshops and seminars offering all kinds of dental knowledge.

Special educational events this week include the World Impact

Have lunch today with movie star Danny Glover

By Anne Rothberg, Editor

This year, the Greater New York Dental Meeting is bringing in a special guest, actor and producer Danny Glover.

Will be a special guest at this year's celebrity luncheon, taking place this afternoon, giving you a chance to eat with the legendary film star.

The luncheon costs $120 and will take place in the Special Dinner Hall from noon until 2 p.m.

While he is known for his more than 30 years of experience in film and TV roles, Glover is also a longtime oral hygiene advocate.

Glover has been nominated for four Primetime Emmy Awards, four Golden Globes and a lifetime achievement award.

Before this year, the Academy of will learn about innovations in next generation CBCT, 3-D facial scans, digital and design software and impression CT scans.

The course continues on Tuesday, where you should be sure to check out Laura Mader's course, "Setting For Range Finding, Proper The Fit."

When visiting a business, you decide where to invest your time, money and efforts for the longevity of your practice, and one of the most important investments is in your team.

In this program, attendees will discuss the steps to finding genuine candidates and creating a culture that turns your team members into team players.

For more information on these and other educational courses, pick up the GNYDM program guide or download the app.

Amann Girrbach
Ceramill Matik

With the new Ceramill Matik processing unit Amann Girrbach revolutionizes the digital laboratory routine.

The innovative full-service unit combines the actual processing station with a fully automatic stock management system, with intelligent tool management and a machine cleaning device, which enables an automatic change between wet and dry mode. This means that the Ceramill Matik works fully automatically and can also manufacture autonomously during the night or on weekends. The dental technician is thus freed from unproductive secondary activities, which previously ...
