The last pictures showed the aesthetic result after 5 years (in 2015), aesthetic expectations of the patient has been fulfilled and we can consider that the patient has been also successfully rehabilitated on a functional point of view (Fig. 14, 15 & 16).

Conclusion
Soft tissue and bone management will have to be done after a complete evaluation of the ratio benefit / risk of the patient; best results will be dependant of the choice of the procedure the most adapted to the patient.

Healing time for soft tissues as well as for bone tissue are of primary importance to obtain successful prosthetic restorations.
