What’s new in New York City? Plenty!

By Fred Michmershuizen, Online Editor

New York City is a place of constant change.

For those who are coming to town this year for the Greater New York Dental Meeting (GNYDM), to be held Nov. 27 to Dec. 2, the Big Apple has a number of new — or improved — attractions to keep things interesting after the show closes for the day.

The first thing you might notice upon walking around a bit is that cars have been banned from large portions of Times Square, Herald Square and many other high-traffic spots around town. In place of all those honking vehicles are lots of potted plants, tons of chairs and abundant elbow room. That’s right — you can now stroll or sit leisurely in the middle of Manhattan and enjoy the sights around you or just people watch.

But there is much, much more that is new. Read on if you want to know it’s really cool. You’ll get a pigeon’s eye view of the happenings on the streets below.

The best way to experience the High Line is to enter via the stairs at Gansevoort and Washington streets and walk north to the access point at 20th Street just west of 10th Avenue. Or, you can start at the northern end and walk south. There are also entries at 14th, 16th and 18th streets. The only elevator access currently open is at 18th Street.

For more information, call (212) 500-6055 or visit www.thehighline.org.

New and improved TKTS Booth

The TKTS Discount Booth, which sells discounted tickets to Broadway and off-Broadway productions, has been popular with locals and tourists alike for ages. The good news is that the booth has been completely renovated.

The ticket booths are much easier to read now and there are the line move much faster than it used to. There is even a lightning-quick “play only” window.

Available shows change daily or even several times each day, and there is no guarantee that tickets for any particular show will be available. But there are usually dozens of productions to choose from, so chances are good that you will be quite pleased.

The tickets, which are for day-of-performance showings only, are discounted up to 50 percent plus a $4 service charge. They now take credit cards in addition to cash and traveler’s checks.

For more information, visit www.tdf.org or better yet, just show up. Tickets go on sale for evening performances every day at 5 p.m. (except Tuesdays, when they go on sale at 2 p.m.) For matinee performances (Wednesdays and Saturdays only) tickets are on sale from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

While you are in the area, walk directly behind the booth to the giant red staircase. That’s new — and it is certainly worth a look. Climb to the top, and you might just feel like you are in the center of the universe.

Because it’s in the very heart of the Theater District, you might even be able to face all of New York City as you hold your arms out like Carol Channing and sing a few lines from “Hello, Dolly!” while descending.

The new Yankee Stadium

Up in the Bronx, the New York Yankees — who, as this issue went to press, were playing the Philadelphia Phillies in the World Series — have a brand new, state-of-the-art stadium that opened this year.

To get there, hop any B, D or 4 subway train to the Bronx and get off at the Yankee Stadium stop. While you are there, you can also see the old Yankee Stadium, which has not been torn down yet.

If you are a baseball fan and are so inclined, you can take a tour of the new home of the legendary ball club. The new stadium tour and includes visits to the New York Yankees Museum, the dugout and also Monument Park (relocated from across the street), which is arguably the most historic place in all of sports.

It contains the monuments of five baseball icons — Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, Mickey Mantle and Miller Huggins — as well as a memorial to the victims of Sept. 11, 2001. The museum displays that recognize the careers of 20 other pinstriped legends, including Yogi Berra, Reggie Jackson, Don Mattingly, Whitey Ford and Elston Howard, and three commemorative plaques marking visits made by three popes.

In addition to Jackie Robinson’s No. 42, which is retired throughout Major League Baseball, Monument Park also commemorates the retired uniform numbers of 16 players and managers who have made outstanding contributions to the Yankees’ illustrious history.

The cost for the tour is $20 per person. To buy tickets, call Ticketmaster at (877) 469-9849 or visit newyork.yankees.mlb.com.

Citi Field

If you are not a Yankees fan, don’t fret. The New York Mets also have a brand new stadium that opened this year — Citi Field, which was built adjacent to the old Shea Stadium in Flushing Meadows, Queens. You might not be able to get inside, but it’s worth a look nonetheless. To get there, take the 7 subway train to Mets/Willets Point Station.

While you are in the neighborhood, you can also visit the adjacent flushing Meadows Coronial Park — site of the 1964/1965 New York World’s Fair and current home to the USTA Billie Jean King National Tennis Center.

Also nearby is the Queens Museum of Art, which houses the amazingly accurate panorama of the city of New York created by Carle Van de Velde in 1851, which was recently updated with contributions from the new Citi Field.

November 2009

DENTAL TRIBUNE | NOVEMBER 2009

16A Greater N.Y. Dental Meeting

No, this is not a trick photograph — you really can walk around and nibble on the ivy at Times Square. There are even chairs to lounge in as you watch the hustle and bustle. (Photo courtesy of NYC and Company)