The Building Blocks of Cosmetic Dentistry
Are you uncertain about what materials represent the best choice when it comes to the design of your crown, or when and where to recommend the use of composites? Can’t understand why you should change the way you do things when you don’t have a problem? We can now show you all this at the Dental Tribune’s 2011 Congress where you will find all information about the Materials of the State of the Art ceramic. In 2011 it will be held on 14 March 2011, Dr Christoff Ormison and Prof. Dr Christian Grassi will go through every aspect of the use of ceramics in restorative dentistry today.

Dr Orm is a past President and an Accredited Member of the British Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry Chair of the BACD Accreditation Committee, a certified Member of the European Society of Cosmetic Dentistry and past President of the Odontological Section of the Royal Society of Medicine. As an experienced speaker at dental conferences, author of clinical and other articles, media consultant and has the ability to lead an educational activity. Dr Orm is ideally placed to assist practitioners with their continued education in cosmetic dentistry.

The course will take place in Letchworth Garden City on 14th March 2011. Places are limited to 35 participants, so book early to avoid disappointment!

Kemdent’s New Diamond Micro Glass Cement

Kemdent are pleased to announce the launch of their new Diamond Micro Glass Cement from the Kavo range.

Kemdent are the only specialist dental company to offer this type of cement and are the first to launch it in the UK.

Contact details:

Sales: sales@kavo.com
Marketing: marketing@kavo.com

E80 is provided with automated, standardised hygiene functions, which makes it perfect for use in the office.

Unaffected by the short implant and rest of the Laser-Lok range technical specifications, the overall design of the short implant is based on the proven Laser-Lok technology.

The UK’s leading producer of biocompatible restoratives is now the first to offer such a short implant.

Kemdent believe that this product is ideally suited for implants where space is at a premium, such as canine replacement implants and pontic crowns.
