Drop-ins for fluoridation consultation

Residents and workers in those areas of Southamp-ton which might receive fluoridated water can attend a series of drop-in events during the public consultation period.

The sessions are organised by South Central Strategic Health Authority (SHA) and begin in Bitterne on Thursday, September 18. Interested parties are invited to talk to experts and give feedback on the controversial proposal. There are display boards with detailed information, as well as the consultation documents and other explanatory literature.

The SHA claims it is independently overseeing the consultation to help people understand the arguments for and against fluorides. However, anti-fluoride campaigners are not allowed to give their own presentations at the sessions leading to claims of bias against the health authority.

Chairman of Hampshire against Fluoridation John Spottiswoode said the outright refusal by the SHA to let his organisation make their own presentations at the drop-in events gave weight to the notion that the consultation was a ‘sham’.

He said the material produced to date by the health authorities was one-sided and a false picture about the true effects of fluoride. It did not take into account other research which showed that fluoride could cause serious and negative side-effects on health.

Dental crisis in Lincoln improves

All patients living within a 20-mile radius of Lincoln can now be seen by an NHS dentist, according to the county’s dental service. Since the new contracts were introduced in April 2006, 60,000 county patients have registered with an NHS dentist with new practices recently opening in Newhall, Gainsborough, and Wragby.

The number of people seen by NHS dental practices has dropped by about one million since the contract was introduced.

In July, the Commons Select Committee on Health said that the Department of Health (DoH) had gone back on its words by not bringing about improved access to dentists, because the amount of complex treatments such as crowns, bridges and dentures had fallen by 57 per cent since the contract’s introduction. The number of root canal treatments fell by 45 per cent in England and Wales, although NHS dental take-up has a long way to go.

The challenge now is to get the message across to residents that dental access has greatly improved, with regard to NHS dentistry in the locality.

Six figure salaries for dentists revealed

The number of people seen by NHS dentistry has dropped by about one million since the contract was introduced.

In July, the Commons Select Committee on Health said that the Department of Health (DoH) had gone back on its words by not bringing about improved access to dentists, because the amount of complex treatments such as crowns, bridges and dentures had fallen by 57 per cent since the contract’s introduction. The number of root canal treatments fell by 45 per cent in England and Wales, although NHS dental take-up has a long way to go.

The challenge now is to get the message across to residents that dental access has greatly improved, with regard to NHS dentistry in the locality.

The number of people seen by NHS dental practices has dropped by about one million since the contract was introduced.

In July, the Commons Select Committee on Health said that the Department of Health (DoH) had gone back on its words by not bringing about improved access to dentists, because the amount of complex treatments such as crowns, bridges and dentures had fallen by 57 per cent since the contract’s introduction. The number of root canal treatments fell by 45 per cent in England and Wales, although NHS dental take-up has a long way to go.

The challenge now is to get the message across to residents that dental access has greatly improved, with regard to NHS dentistry in the locality.

The number of people seen by NHS dental practices has dropped by about one million since the contract was introduced.

In July, the Commons Select Committee on Health said that the Department of Health (DoH) had gone back on its words by not bringing about improved access to dentists, because the amount of complex treatments such as crowns, bridges and dentures had fallen by 57 per cent since the contract’s introduction. The number of root canal treatments fell by 45 per cent in England and Wales, although NHS dental take-up has a long way to go.

The challenge now is to get the message across to residents that dental access has greatly improved, with regard to NHS dentistry in the locality.

The number of people seen by NHS dental practices has dropped by about one million since the contract was introduced.

In July, the Commons Select Committee on Health said that the Department of Health (DoH) had gone back on its words by not bringing about improved access to dentists, because the amount of complex treatments such as crowns, bridges and dentures had fallen by 57 per cent since the contract’s introduction. The number of root canal treatments fell by 45 per cent in England and Wales, although NHS dental take-up has a long way to go.

The challenge now is to get the message across to residents that dental access has greatly improved, with regard to NHS dentistry in the locality.

The number of people seen by NHS dental practices has dropped by about one million since the contract was introduced.

In July, the Commons Select Committee on Health said that the Department of Health (DoH) had gone back on its words by not bringing about improved access to dentists, because the amount of complex treatments such as crowns, bridges and dentures had fallen by 57 per cent since the contract’s introduction. The number of root canal treatments fell by 45 per cent in England and Wales, although NHS dental take-up has a long way to go.

The challenge now is to get the message across to residents that dental access has greatly improved, with regard to NHS dentistry in the locality.

The number of people seen by NHS dental practices has dropped by about one million since the contract was introduced.

In July, the Commons Select Committee on Health said that the Department of Health (DoH) had gone back on its words by not bringing about improved access to dentists, because the amount of complex treatments such as crowns, bridges and dentures had fallen by 57 per cent since the contract’s introduction. The number of root canal treatments fell by 45 per cent in England and Wales, although NHS dental take-up has a long way to go.

The challenge now is to get the message across to residents that dental access has greatly improved, with regard to NHS dentistry in the locality.
Editorial comment

Off with his head...

Yet again we have another ‘misguided’ decision this week only this time it’s to axe the Standing Dental Advisory Committee (SDAC). The BDA has done its bit by writing to Alan Johnson, MP, but whether it will make a difference remains a mystery. But the fact that there was ‘overwhelming’ support to keep SDAC, says it all. The profession’s respect for the Committee is apparent – but armed with the knowledge of its commitment to patient care and quality service is – ironically - disconcerting to say the least. For why, oh why would the government want to eliminate this professional authority, which has been a political stalwart in such uncertain times? If quality dentistry is key for the government, would it not make more sense to work more closely with SDAC instead of pushing it out the door? Or is the plan to weaken the profession further and parcel of a much bigger, bleaker picture? We hope not.

Okay, so we all know the old saying... the contract was rolled out without consultation...blah, blah, blah but then ‘ding!’ Let’s get rid of SDAC - for who needs a body that not only draws to ‘simple’ work to accumulate this extra cash or not? The evidence of less complex work in the task of the profession. Crowns and bridges, and dentures have fallen by 57 per cent, while root canal treatments have decreased by 45 per cent. Should we be worried? These are not small changes by any means – so how can dentists earning more money than ever if they are doing less complex work? Or could it be that this is total rubbish? For by the time the money has been ‘clawed’ back from dentists who have ‘failed’ to meet the treatment targets set for them, these earnings are way, way over exaggerated. And as the chief executive of the NHS Information Centre says: ‘The report reveals the pay of NHS dentists varies GREATLY depending on their contractual arrangements.’

Big fat wallets?

If dentists are earning 15 per cent more under the new contract we should be happy right? (Who wouldn’t be happy with an overall income of MORE than £100,000?) Only there appears to be a few discrepancies here. Firstly – assuming the figures are accurate – this is a result of resorting to ‘simple’ work to accumulate this extra cash or not? The evidence of less complex work in the task of the profession. Crowns and bridges, and dentures have fallen by 57 per cent, while root canal treatments have decreased by 45 per cent. Should we be worried? These are not small changes by any means – so how can dentists earning more money than ever if they are doing less complex work? Or could it be that this is total rubbish? For by the time the money has been ‘clawed’ back from dentists who have ‘failed’ to meet the treatment targets set for them, these earnings are way, way over exaggerated. And as the chief executive of the NHS Information Centre says: ‘The report reveals the pay of NHS dentists varies GREATLY depending on their contractual arrangements.’

from secondary care dentistry. Let’s wait and see what the Secretary of State is going to say in reply.

Dentists’ Provident offers income protection up to £1,200 per week, plus a lump sum at retirement, both currently free of UK income tax and capital gains tax.

We have a proven 100 year history of understanding the complex financial needs of dentists. Our flexible range of income protection solutions gives peace of mind that you are financially protected if illness or injury prevents you from working.

Contact us, or return the coupon below, for more information on solutions gives peace of mind that you are financially protected if illness or injury prevents you from working.

Tradition with a modern twist...

Dentists’ Provident
9 Gayfere Street
London SW1P 3HN

T: +44 (0) 20 7222 2511
F: +44 (0) 20 7222 5312
E: info@dentistsprovident.co.uk
W: www.dentistsprovident.co.uk

Dentists’ Provident is the trading name of Dentists’ Provident Society Limited which is incorporated under the Friendly Societies Act 1992 (Registration Number 407F) and is authorised and regulated by the Financial Services Authority (Firm Reference Number 110015).

For VDPs & House Officers

90% discount

Come and see us on stand T17 at Dental Showcase

Tradition with a modern twist...

Dentists’ Provident
9 Gayfere Street
London SW1P 3HN

T: +44 (0) 20 7222 2511
F: +44 (0) 20 7222 5312
E: info@dentistsprovident.co.uk
W: www.dentistsprovident.co.uk

Dentists’ Provident is the trading name of Dentists’ Provident Society Limited which is incorporated under the Friendly Societies Act 1992 (Registration Number 407F) and is authorised and regulated by the Financial Services Authority (Firm Reference Number 110015).

For VDPs & House Officers

90% discount

Dentists’ Provident
9 Gayfere Street
London SW1P 3HN

T: +44 (0) 20 7222 2511
F: +44 (0) 20 7222 5312
E: info@dentistsprovident.co.uk
W: www.dentistsprovident.co.uk

Dentists’ Provident is the trading name of Dentists’ Provident Society Limited which is incorporated under the Friendly Societies Act 1992 (Registration Number 407F) and is authorised and regulated by the Financial Services Authority (Firm Reference Number 110015).