At this year’s BDTA stand, TANDEX are inviting members of the dental team to sample ‘flexi’, their leading interdental cleaning brush brand.

The more patients perceive the look and feel of the brush - the more likely they are to use it, meaning more effective cleaning taking place over a prolonged period of time.

Furthermore, the same neurological studies have demonstrated that TANDEX trig.Tudc a reaction in the Ventral Striatum, part of the Lymbic system where the brain region is responsible for building up preference to a brand.
