Getting a good grip on your oral hygiene

There are many cross infection hazards within the dental setting. The introduction of new technology can lead to greater productivity, but also brings new risks, as you consider the following:

- Are you sure the technology being used is relevant to your patients’ needs?
- Do you want to invest in the technology, or are there other options available?
- Are you sure the technology is being used correctly?
- Do you have the necessary skills to use the technology effectively?

A head of the rest

When it comes to attaining and maintaining a system of high standards in the delivery of care, the BACD provides a framework for the monitoring of clinical activity and the provision of services.
