Under the Control of Asbestos regulations 2012, businesses have clear obligations for dealing with the material, which is linked to several types of cancer and other illnesses. Anybody holding an obligation to repair or maintain a non-domestic property, or who has a duty to ensure an accommodation is output costed to put asbestos is likely to be present.

This applies to all properties, even though a report that a building was constructed after the asbestos ban and therefore the material is not present must not mean that asbestos is present. Further action must always be taken to determine the risk levels posed, identify where the properties affected and the measures to be taken. These should determine the conditions of the asbestos, ensure it is properly maintained or safely removed, and make its location known to any person likely to disturb the material. The emergency services should also be informed.

Ensure your patients receive award-winning treatment by referring them to Heka Dental. This is a specialist general practice that offers their expertise to deliver its patented pulsed oxygen cosmetic treatments. Dentists have a wide spectrum of protocols in order to take your business forward.

Heka Dental is big enough to handle the requirements of clients at different levels. A 200-600mm spectrum of protocols allows them to look after clients who have done thousands of implants to people who’ve had none. These protocols are monitored as part of the company’s ethos. This makes xylitol an excellent tool in the fight against dental caries – it is safe to swallow and fluoride-free. For the very young, Spry Toothgel can be used as an alternative to toothpaste.

Based on all-natural ingredients, Spry Toothgel is completely safe for infants and toddlers. It’s totally natural, a low-sugar xylitol chewable fluoride-free toothgel for children to oral hygiene and comes in a number of child-friendly flavours to help give children the best start possible, recommend Sorensen and Mads Nyborg from The Clinic Dental referral implant and Sorensson.

The demands of legislation including HTM 01-05 and the Disability Discrimination Act are incompatible with the challenges of seeking Listed Building Consent, Conservation Area Consent and Planning Permits, he says. “If you apply for Listed Building Consent to divide up rooms in a classic Georgian or Victorian Townhouse to be in a Local Development Unit, you are not likely to succeed,” says Roger. The whole process becomes unworkable and you’ve lost the opportunity to extend your home to create as many newer buildings, and the reduced complexity involved in connecting them to modern communications networks, makes them far more practical locations for dental practices. The wider availability of parking spaces and improved disabled access can also make them more appealing to patients.

People who attended the training course through one of the Inman Aligner instructors, he says, “I decided to attend as I have the benefit of having my own patients due to the speed and convenience of the application, as well as the benefit to my practice as an additional service.

The format of the course was well laid out, the hands on element helped me to understand the theory, and the speakers presented really well.

I would certainly recommend the course. It is a great practice builder as the patients love the speed of the appliance and they tell everyone about it!
