End of an era near for historic dental practices

Growing legislative pressure will soon see an end to period houses being used as dental practices, predicts Roger Gullidge of Roger Gullidge Design.

The demands of legislation including HTM 01-05 and the Disability Discrimination Act are incompatible with the challenges of seeking Listed Building Consent, Conservation Area Consent and Planning Permission, he says.

"If you apply for Listed Building Consent to divide up rooms in a classic Georgian or Victorian Terrace to fit in a Local Decontamination Unit, you are not likely to succeed," says Roger. The whole process becomes unviable and you will essentially be compelled to move the building to expand and modify the building, and the redevelopment involved in connecting the building to modern communications networks, makes them far more practical locations for dental practices. The wider availability of parking spaces and improved disabled access can also make them more appealing to patients.

Spry Toothgel with xylitol – the perfect way to keep childhood caries at bay

We all know it’s important parents introduce their children to good oral hygiene habits from an early age. To help give children the best start possible, recommend Spry Toothgel with xylitol for the perfect way to keep dental caries at bay.

Xylitol is a naturally occurring sweetener that is proven to be a powerful tool in the fight against tooth decay. Thanks to its unique chemical composition, xylitol is unfermentable by the bacteria that cause decay, reducing their ability to proliferate and adhere. This makes xylitol an excellent tool in the fight against dental caries.

Available in a handy 60ml tube, Spry Toothgel is a great way to introduce children to oral hygiene and comes in a range of fruity flavoured syrups to make teeth cleaning even more fun.

Everyone Benefits with the Inman Aligner

The Inman Aligner uses gently opposing forces to straighten anterior teeth safely and quickly training courses for the appliance enable practitioners to incorporate the Inman Aligner into their everyday workloads, and online support forums provide on-going help and advice through complex cases.

"I find the best way to train for the appliance course is through one of the Inman Aligner’s instructors," says Dr Rashid. "I use their support forums all the time. Although I have now completed a number of cases some are more complex and the responses and advice through the forum is great.

"I would certainly recommend you attend. It is a great practice builder as the patients love the speed of the appliance and they tell everyone about it!"

Nobel Biocare: ‘take your business forward’

Dr Joe Bhat is a Specialist in Prosthodontics and Oral Surgery and a Fellow of the International Team for Implantology (ITI). He is principal dentist at Moor Park Specialist Dental Centre in Midhurst and a client of Nobel Biocare.

"Nobel Biocare is big enough to handle the most challenging of treatments, but at the same time quite personal," says Dr Bhat. "They have a wide spectrum of products that allows them to look after clinicians who have done thousands of implants to people who are just starting off. They understand your level of implant knowledge and training and give you the right level of support in order to take your business forward.

"One of the most terrifying things that dentists do through when they’re just starting to work with implants is the fear of the unknown. They don’t know what to do. Therefore, a lot of hand holding is required and that’s just one of the ways in which the Nobel Biocare team offer their support. Dentists have the expertise of a company that implicitly understands the product and offers clinical guidance as a matter of course!"
