“Kennedy’s wound was clearly incompatible with life”

Few people are granted the opportunity to become an active part of historical events. Seventy-six-year-old Dr Don T. Curtis, a former dentist and oral surgeon from Amarillo in Texas, is one of them. As a resident in oral and maxillofacial surgery at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas, he was one of the first doctors to have performed emergency treatment on US President John F. Kennedy after he was shot on 22 November 1963. DTI Group Editor Daniel Zimmermann had the opportunity to speak with him about that day and the reason he thinks that there was more to the assassination than a lone gunman.

Dr Don T. Curtis as a dental student in 1962 (DTI/Photo courtesy of Baylor College of Dentistry, USA)

US Secret Service agents and local police examine the presidential limousine outside of Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas, as President John F. Kennedy is treated inside (DTI/Photo courtesy of John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum, USA)

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.

When I got there, it was obvious that the president was in extremis. He tried to breathe but was unable to do so.
According to eyewitnesses, discussions broke out about who was authorised to do the autopsy. Did you notice any of that? I did not because I left the trauma room soon after the president had been pronounced dead and went back to the clinic to see my patient in the operating room. However, I found that all scheduled surgeries for that day had been cancelled and all patients had been sent back to the ward. Only a few surgeries were underway at that time, including that of Governor John Bowden Connally, who had also been injured during the shooting.

I told my patient that her surgery had been postponed. She understood that. Since there was nothing else for me to do, I then cleared my business in the clinic and went home. There, we spent the weekend watching television and listening to the news on the radio. We were relieved that President Lyndon B. Johnson had made it safely back to Washington and that the government was uninterupted. Finally on Sunday, we learned that the suspect, Lee Harvey Oswald, had been shot, which indicated that there was something going on in addition to just a lone shooter.

The majority of Americans do not believe that Oswald acted alone, as concluded by the report of the Warren Commission appointed by the government to investigate the circumstances of the assassination. Did you observe any irregularities between this official version and the events you witnessed? The Warren Commission's report reflected what the people wanted to hear, which was that Oswald acted alone and that there was no conspiracy. The doctors of Parkland however when wiping the blood from Kennedy’s neck for the tracheostomy found a single bullet hole that was apparently an entrance wound, which meant that must have been a projectile that entered the president from the front. Because of its nature, the wound on the back of Kennedy’s head was an exit wound, so there must have been at least two bullets that came through the front.

While all the doctors’ testimonies, including mine, were included in the report, their knowledge of the wounds did not have much influence on the Commission’s overall conclusion. Why it was interpreted that way has remained a mystery for the past 50 years.

What do you believe actually happened that day? My personal belief is that there were of course multiple shooters and that Oswald did not do it alone. This would indicate however that there was in fact a conspiracy.

After the events, you stayed at Parkland Memorial Hospital for another two years. Were the events discussed by the staff in the aftermath? We actually never talked about it. This was something we just did not want to discuss. However, I left Parkland in 1965 for an exchange residency in London and Zurich, where I often discussed the events with my colleagues abroad.

Particularly in England, there was much interest in US politics and the assassination.

You recently went public with your knowledge after 50 years. What were your reasons for doing so? Everything that I would say is already in the literature about the assassination but I think there needs to be general knowledge of what people who were actually involved knew.

More than six million pages of classified evidence on the Kennedy assassination are going to be released by 2017. Are you interested in this knowledge, or do you consider that chapter of your life closed?

There is a great deal of speculation of what information these documents actually contain. I do not look forward to it but would be interested to know what could be learned from them.