Zimmer Dental adds allograft putty to regenerative portfolio

Zimmer Dental Inc., a leading provider of dental and oral rehabilitation products and a subsidiary of Zimmer Holdings, Inc., is pleased to announce the availability of Puros® Demineralized Bone Matrix (DBM) Putty and Puros® Demineralized Bone Matrix (DBM) Putty with Chips — the latest additions to its extensive line of successful regenerative products.

The first of its kind to be made entirely from human allograft material, the ready-to-use Puros DBM Putty, with and without chips, offers excellent handling and time-saving convenience for optimum bone regeneration. Clinicians will benefit from the pre-mixed, moldable putty, which is packaged in a handy dispenser for easy extrusion and/or delivery. In addition, the pliable putty maintains its form and resists migration in a fluid environment.

Zimmer Dental has built a solid reputation of offering clinicians and patients innovative products, and the trend continues with the availability of Puros DBM Putty. The regenerative product is sterilized to SAL 10-6 using low-temperature, low-dose gamma irradiation. Furthermore, every donor lot of DBM powder used to manufacture the putty is tested for osseointegrative (OI) potential in an in vivo rat assay, and only lots of DBM powder demonstrating bone formation and no significant inflammatory response are utilized for processing.
